AT A COST OF $1,200 EVERY YEAR.

But by an Amicable Arrangement Between the Two Cities.

THE RAILROAD FARES ARE CHEAPENED

The conveyance of prisoners to the workhouse from the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny annually costs the county $600, and it is estimated by Warden Warner that it cost two-thirds as much to pay the fares back to the city of those who are discharged. During 1888 the West Penn Railroad Company received probably $1,200 from the workhouse passenger traffic, and only about $60 from the traffic to and from the Allegheny City Poor Home, which is also located at Claremont.

By an amicable arrangement between the county and city authorities a saving of at least $500 per year has been effected in these passenger fares. The expense of conveying prisoners to the workhouse is sustained by the county. Under the law, an officer was allowed 90 cents for each prisoner taken to that institution. As it frequently happens that one officer conveys half a dozen prisoners, he would be able to clear a nice sum every day at the county's expense. When the workhouse was opened, in 1870, County Controller Henry Lambert, who was the predecessor of Warden Henry Warner in the Controller's office, made an amicable arrangement with the Mayors of Pittsburg and Allegheny, by which the Controller purchased and furnished to the officers of the two cities what are called "family trip books," good either way between Allegheny City and Claremont over the West Penn road. Each of these books contains coupons for 50 rides, and cost $8 70. As the fare one way is 27 cents, a saving is made of $4 80 on every 50 trips. There is an actual saving, as explained by Warden Warner, even greater

HOW IT IS SAVED.

For instance, yesterday sixteen prisoners were taken from the city to the workhouse, in charge of only three officers. Under the law these three officers would receive $14.40 from the county for their prisoners. The actual expense of the officers, by purchasing one-way tickets for their prisoners and round-trip tickets for themselves, would be only $5 64. Under the system in vogue, 22 coupons required for yesterday's trip cost the county only $3 83, making a saving of $10 57 on yesterday's work alone. In 1888 Pittsburg sent 2,508 prisoners to the workhouse, Allegheny City 368, and the county outside of the city sent 139. From other counties 120 pay prisoners were re-ceived. For four years there has been a constant and decided decrease in the number of men and women sent to Claremont from the two cities. For this decrease Warien Warner said that he was wholly unable to account. He considers it to be merely the ebb and flow discernible in the statistics of nearly every penal institution in the county. The daily average of prisoners during 1888 was 564. Yesterday there were 618 inmates, of whom 88 were women. -The Warden pays the fare of all female prisoners discharged and desiring to return the city. The fares of many male prisoners are paid, according to the dis-cretion of the Warden. If the weather is i--lement, or if the prisoner be old, lame or his fare is paid. During the summer

s two-thirds of the male prisoners diswalk to the city. Sometimes an odied prisoner has been a good and then his fare is paid as a matter of re-

"Many of the prisoners soon return," Mr. Warner says. "They are unfitted for any other work, and seem to be unable to earn a living. Not a few prefer to live at the workhouse. They are like fish out of water when they are away from here. I imagine that you cannot guess how many times some of our inmates have been here. One man is serving his fifty-fifth term."

THREE YEARS' TRANSPORTATION.

The ticket books for persons sent to the Allegheny City Poor Home, at Claremont, are purchased by Major Hunker, of the Allegheny Board of Charities. The item is not a large one, as only 165 persons were sent to the Poor House last year. Nearly the same number of persons were discharged from the institution, and they were likewise furnished tickets back to the city. The following number of prisoners were sent to the workhouse during the past three buildings discloses a scene of great activity. A small army of workmen is working vigorously, and with bright prospects of getting things into shape by this day two weeks. Power Hall, seen from a distance, is very delusive to the eyesight. It looks small as seen from the Sixth street bridge, owing to its skeleton frame. As a matter of fact, it is 300 feet long and 112 feet wide.

Power Hall Will Be Finished in Time What is Going on in Main Hall-A Splendid Art Gallery.

remendously heavy oak flooring is nearly all dewa, and the turrets at each corner are being marked in rapidly. The foundations for the two engines have been finished, also for the two engines have been finished, also the foundation for a water tank 21x42 feet. The restaurant, 114x72 feet in size, is nearly completed. It is built on piles and projects over the river. A promenade 10 feet wide runs the entire length of the building overhanging the river. Tickets to meals will include the view from the river. It may not be as grand as the view from the Eiffel Tower Restaurant, but it will be pretty well for Pittsburg. The building will be completed this week. Murphy & Hamilton completed this week. Murphy & Hamilton have 108 men working 12 hours a day, and say that they have things in a forward condition. The floor space will be ready for the exhibitors next week. The "tin-plate" annex at the west end of the main building will be finished this week. Some enterprising chap has received permission to erect a

Main building is now in the hands of the exhibitors. The huge edifice has been painted a warm red throughout. The pilpainted a warm red throughout. The pillars have been picked out in red and light brown, and look quite artistic. The galleries are handsomely painted. Measurements were taken yesterday for the decoration of the roof timbers. Their ungainly outlines will be concealed by red, white and blue bunting. Nearly all the platforms are constructed by the exhibitors, and from the outside all the approaches and sidewalks are being placed in order. The new and improved turnstiles, eight in all, four for each entrance, have arrived and are ready to be entrance, have arrived and are ready to be set up. They are mostly of iron, and are considerable of an improvement upon the old Centennial turnstiles. About the only piece of carpentry work now in the building erected by exhibitors is the handsome pagoda of S. S. Marvin & Co. This stands on the gallery fronting the main entrance. It will be colored black, white and gilt. The band stand and the sounding board at the back are completed. The band stand is directly over the main entrance.

The art gallery is one of the finest ever erected in America. There are six large chambers with labyrinthian entrances so contrived that no light enters except from the apertures at the top, which are covered with white muslin, the walls being built so as to contract nearly half at the top. The prevailing color is dark red, and the effect is to secure a "dim religious light." just the thing for the proper display of pictures. These latter were moved in yesterday, and the job of hanging will be immediately commenced by Artist Clarence Johns. The art gallery certainly gives evidence of care in its preparation. The system of foot-lights for each row of pictures will be very omprehensive.

The Westinghouse people have finished the job of changing all the incandescent lights from 16 to 25 candle power. There are now 864 incandescent, and 22 are lights in the building. A number of other special display lights are to be put in.

Union men are watching the interior of main building very closely. Two carpenters at work yesterday on a stand for a music firm were notified to quit, and lost no time in getting out. No non-union man will be allowed to strike a lick in the build-ready to quit at a moment's notice.

Heinz, the pickle man, will have a unique display. He has the entire cast wall of the building, and erected a scaffold yesterday. To-day a huge canvas will be stretched, covering nearly the entire space. Painters will cover the canvas with an im-mense view of Mr. Heinz' pickle garden. At the bottom of this view will be a space 20 feet high and the width of the dead wall, with figures worked out in pickle bottles.

It is a singular thing, but the first exhibit put in permanent position in the main building is the old "Vigilant" fire engine, with its old leather hose and queer brass in-scription marked "Instituted in 1811." The Exposition Society managers held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon. The business transacted was principally of routine character. The contracts for lighting the building during the Exposi-tion were approved. The cost will be about Although the work at the Exposition grounds looks discouraging to outsiders, the managers still have no fear of it not be ing ready for the opening. Manager Johnston said yesterday it would not be any fault of his if the work is not done. He has been insisting on the work being pushed

WITH 16 DELEGATES

TO-DAY'S IMPORTANT MEETING.

The Ohio and Beaver Dam and Canal Scheme Goes Booming.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS ON MONONGAHELA

The meeting of all river coal operators and steamboatmen in the office of John A. Wood & Sons, 86 Water street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock means more than would at first appear to those outside of the circle. Ostensibly they are to meet to elect dele gates to the Western Waterway Convention to be held in Cincinnati on September 4. Heretofore such a meeting in regard to the annual convention has not created much of an excitement among the rivermen; now they are all looking forward to the convention as the most important step toward retrieving the waning prestige of the river coal kings. As a a gentleman in John A. Wood's office said yesterday, business on the river has continued to be very dull, and the rivermen and coal operators say something must be done. The one thing that will bring back the old days and enliven river trade, in their opinion is the proposed system of dams to Beaver on the Ohio, and the canal thence to the lakes.

Capt. I. N. Bunton, of Jos. Walton & Co., said yesterday that the delegates who will be sent to the convention from Pittsburg will advocate strongly the dam and canal scheme above all other improvements on the Ohio, and would do all possible to the capability of the c ble to have the projecct carried through.

PITTSBURG'S BIG DELEGATION. Sixteen delegates, at least, will be appointed to-day to go the convention. Besides the dam and canal project, they will look after the proper location of a couple of new bridges at Wheeling and Louisville, and also a general agreement as to the improve-ments necessary, but the accomplishment of the proposed canal project will be the chief topic brought by the members of this sec-tion before the convention. The end to be achieved is to show the feasibility of the project and the greet results to commerce project, and the great results to commerce that would accrue therefrom.

Governor Beaver has already written the rivermen here, allowing them to name men for the commission authorized by the Legis-for the commission authorized by the Legislature to look up the canal and dam project and the men will be selected soon.

The decrease in the Southern coal trade is attributed by some as due to the cheapness of mining the Alabama and Tennessee coal and other mines South. The coal is far inferior, but is used on account of its heapness. Captain Joseph Walton said that in many of the mines convicts are employed, costing little more than their "keep."

The convention in September will represent all the steamboatmen of the Mississippi, Ohio and their tributaries with the interest of navigation involved by all.

A MONONGAHELA TRIUMPH. Dam No. 8, on the Monongahela river, is expected to be completed by December 1. This dam will be of immense importance to Morgantown, W. Va., and is of considerable interest to this neighborhood also, especially to the river packet company. When finished a Morgantowner can take a boat in the evening and come to this city by morning, rest-ing during the night in his stateroom as comfortably as at home, and be in this city in the morning refreshed and ready for business Colonel Merrill is authority for the statement that the dam will be finished this season.

The building of this dam affords another illustration of how-not-to-do-it method of Government building. The lock has been finished for quite awhile, and at times portions of the work on the dam have been built, but successive freshets not only stopped work but carried much away that had been done. This delay has also been aggravated by the Government method of making appropria-tions which have been the cause of the loss of much of the work. When the appropria-tion is arbanted work cases tion is exhausted work ceases.

President M. K. Moorhead, of the Monongahela Navigation Company, also states that West Virginia influence has stood in the way of the prosperity of the section about Morgantown. The navigation com-pany owns dam No. 7, and No. 8 was in-tended to have been built before No. 9, but West Virginia thought best to have No. 9 built before No. 8, thinking the building of the former would expedit that of the latter the former would expedite that of the latter.

MR. MOORHEAD'S POINT. Mr. Moorhead makes a point on the matter in the controversy between his company and the Government. He says that dam No. 7 has already cost $236,000 and is not completed, while the Government has appealed from the award of $207,000 for dam No. 8, which is lower than No. 7, being further down the river. It seems that the Monongahela Navigation Company will likely go on collecting tolls for four or five other Arrest-A Third Alderman Being Looked For-Why the Other Class of Blackmailing is Not Prosecuted. Alderman Hyndman was asked last even ing if any information had been made before him by Police Inspector Whitehouse in a new set of blackmailing cases, said to center in the Lawrenceville district. He replied that no information had been made as yet. The cases are said to involve the proprietors of questionable resorts other than speak-easies.

From another official it is learned, ho ever, that a number of cases have been brought to the attention of the police, but they are of such a nature as to render it impossible to secure evidence. Married men have committed indiscretions which have been made the basis of charges against them. Dreading publicity, the men have invariably settled in the usual back-room fashion in a certain Alderman's office. The nature of the cases absolutely preclude The nature of the cases absolutely preclude the possibility of securing evidence, as few men will consent to make an information at the risk of losing their own characters. So that while the police have more than a so that waite the police have more than a suspicion as to the existence of a widespread scheme of blackmailing, specific evidence is entirely out of their reach.
